Woolcraft

In Partnership with Willow Lohr

WOOL

Few products are as intrinsically infused with Scottish tradition and landscape as wool. Hardy and resilient Highland sheep have offered up their fleeces for centuries in order for fishermen and farmers, aristocracy and royalty to feel the benefit of dressing and adorning themselves in the most durable and warm yarns.

The Experience

To create something with your hands, using humble tools and natural materials, is intensely satisfying and empowering. During this unique event you are invited into the world of native Scottish wool and gently coached to create a wonderful woodland bird wool sculpture. Anyone can do it. You will be guided by Willow, who has over 25 years of wool working, felting and wool-sculpturing experience in her hands.

The Wilderness Difference

Wilderness Folk School's hand-picked team will support Willow and bring years of craft events experience. Expect creative fire-cooked food and rustic charm.

About Willow

Willow has become one of the UK's most accomplished instructors and craftswoman in many traditional skills. Living on a small holding with rare breed sheep, hens and bees, Willow has always been intrigued to learn the skills which enable us to connect deeply to nature; spinning, tanning, leatherwork, felting, bone and wood carving, indigenous arts and plant crafts.

Willow's depth of skills and knowledge are a rarity in this fast-paced modern world and time spent in her company is always inspiring.

Wilderness Folk School

The Wilderness Folk School team is made up of a hand-picked collection of bushcraft experts, wilderness guides and outdoor educators who come together to create truly unique experiences.
